

San Diego Traps Drinking Drivers; Squads Halt All Cars at Key Points

SAN DIEGO, July 22, (U.P.)—The "drunk trap," or blockade, which takes intoxicated motorists off the streets and to jail before there is an accident, is the answer to the rapid increase in traffic deaths, believes Chief of Police George Sears, of San Diego, who originated the idea.

How well the plan operates, Sears said, is shown by the records, which reveal San Diego is one of the few cities of the nation with more than 100,000 population, to show a decrease in traffic deaths during 1936.

Only 25 persons were killed on San Diego streets during the first six months of this year. Under Sears' plan squads of officers, each night, are sent into various parts of the city. There are eight men to a squad, all equipped with motorcycles.

Officers are stationed at each entrance to the intersection and

Cars Collide at Crossing

While driving south on Eshelman avenue Sunday afternoon, Joe Bay, 2003 Gramercy avenue, was almost thru the intersection at 235th street when his car was struck by a machine driven west on that street by Francis Hiatt, 2251 233rd street, according to police reports. No one was hurt but Bay's car had to be towed to a garage for repairs. Hiatt was able to drive his machine away from the accident scene.

every approaching car, truck and motorcycle is halted. The operator is carefully studied by the policeman.

All suspected of being in the least intoxicated are ordered to the side of the highway and more exhaustive tests made. If the driver is found to be intoxicated he is taken to jail and booked.

In the first six months of the year the "drunk traps" sent 339 motorists to jail, but the number is decreasing monthly, from a high of 80 in March to 48 in June.

Sears asserted these figures prove the efficiency of the traps—that motorists hesitate to take "even one little drink before they venture out on the streets, for they never know when, or where they'll run into a drunk trap."

SUMMER SALAD DRESSINGS

Many housewives know how to prepare the base of a variety of salads, but find themselves at a loss when deciding upon a fitting dressing for each one. This is unfortunate, for a good dressing adds much to the flavor of the dish. Here are recipes for two dressings that you will find particularly pleasing:

Brabant Dressing

Mix together the yolks of four eggs, one teaspoon mustard, one teaspoon salt, one tablespoon sugar, one teaspoon butter, four tablespoons vinegar and a dash of red pepper. Cook in a double boiler until thick. Cool and then beat in one cup whipped cream and one cup chopped nut meats. This is a delicious salad dressing for fruit salad.

A cooked dressing made with cream will be found excellent for serving with vegetable, meat or fish salads. Mix together one-half tablespoon salt, one-half tablespoon mustard, three-quarters teaspoon sugar and one tablespoon flour. Then add the yolks of two eggs, beaten lightly, three tablespoons melted butter, three-quarters cup of cream or rich milk and one-quarter cup vinegar. Stir constantly in double boiler, cooking until the mixture becomes thick. Strain and cool.

Reports indicate that many of us will be doing a lot of worrying before long. Food prices are going up. Our pocketbooks are not keeping pace. The problem "what to serve" is a real one.

Here's a timely hint. At the peak of the season, when prices are lowest, "put up" fruits, berries and vegetables for later use—when prices are high. Early in the season you may jar your peas. Later on, make pickles or a tasty vegetable butter from carrots, winter squash or pumpkin. In between, there are plenty of other "goodies" to be taken care of.

Stock your preserve closet with rows after rows of sparkling pint and quart jars of these foods. Through the transparent glass you may see the food and appreciate its quality. When you use it, you will appreciate the saving.

The glass jar will do a lot this season to keep upkeep down. Here are two of the many recipes that are enjoying popularity:

Peas

Use only young tender, freshly gathered peas. Shell, wash and sort according to size. Precook 3 to 7 minutes, depending on the age and size of the peas. Pack loosely to within 1 inch of top into clean glass jars. Fill to within 1/2 inch of top with water in which vegetable was precooked or boiling water. Add 1 teaspoon of salt and sugar mixture to each pint jar if desired. Put on cap, screwing band firmly tight. Process in pressure cooker, 80 minutes at 10 pounds; or in water bath, 180 minutes; or in oven, 240 minutes at 250 degrees.

Carrot, Winter Squash or Pumpkin Butter

6 lbs. carrots, pumpkin or winter squash
5 lbs. light brown sugar
5 lemons
2 tablespoons ground ginger
2 tablespoons ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon allspice
1 pint water

Peel vegetables; chop them fine or put them through food chopper. Add spices and sugar together with lemon juice, and grind put through chopper; let stand over night. In morning add 1 pint water; boil gently until vegetables are clear and soft and mixture thick. Pour into sterilized glass jars and seal.

People and what they are doing...

Evening Snacks? Bacon Pin-Wheels

When the gang drops in for a late evening snack, bacon pin-wheels are an excellent choice, and you can be sure the guests will delight in helping to make them. Here's how:

Bacon Pin-Wheels

Spread slices of bread with cream cheese, roll and wrap a slice of bacon around the end, fastening the ends with toothpicks. Place on broiler rack far enough from flame or heating element that they will cook slowly. By the time the bacon is browned the whole pin-wheel should be heated through and the cheese melted. Serve immediately.

MANY FARM WORKERS

California agriculture gives year-around employment to 48,000 migratory workers and during peak months demands as many as 144,700 persons to handle crop movements.
